My crew lead today told me she noticed me continually standing/working in the road, and to combat it instead of saying anything to bring it to my attention, ask me to move out of the road, remind me of safety etc,etc, she pegged that if she would simply move further away (out of the road) and I would subconsciously follow her, like a moth drawn to a flame, following her compulsively to safety.

I love her soooo much.

Horse Management has been a challenge for me. I regret starting this page ~ halfway through the season, but I'll have to do tons of backtracking for previous positions anyway, so there is nothing to be done for it.

Blah blah good nice big long chunks of text
